

Web Development

Entrust the creation, design, hosting and continued development of your website to PenTeleData - home to the most talented and dependable web solutions on the Internet.

You've already reserved a domain name for yourself, your company - or both. Why not have it hosted, designed and developed by PenTeleData? As you know, your domain name serves as your organization's calling card on the Internet, where visitors from all around the world know where to find you, your products and your services online, on the web and via e-mail. It's crucial to the health of the operation of your business to ensure your domain name, e-mail and website remain live and online somewhere reliable like PenTeleData. PenTeleData not only provides a secure place to park your treasured domain name, but also offers a wide range of web hosting packages for small to large entities. PenTeleData hosts thousands of domain names, maintains a premiere hosting facility and fully supports customers' web development needs with an expert development and programming services staff of full-time professionals. No matter what your web needs, PenTeleData satisfies the most specific request.

Now that your domain name and website is hosted at PenTeleData, explore PenTeleData's creative capabilities: let PenTeleData establish the attractive, respected, fully-functional Internet web presence your organization expects. PenTeleData's years of experience combined with a talented design and development team consistently create websites that hit the mark, stand out heads above the competition and deliver visitors to your online destination.

The following is a list of some of the projects the PenTeleData Web Department has created for clients.

Shopping Carts:

This customized, secure PenTeleData e-commerce solution encourages visitors to browse shopping areas throughout your site and add items to their "shopping cart" for check-out transactions. PenTeleData can also tailor-design such additional features as creating administrative back-end support that allows the website manager to add, delete and modify products to their online store and build in credit card transactions.

Single-Step Order Forms:

This one-step process enables a customer to fill out a form and click on a submit button. The form could be written to a database, sent through e-mail or a combination of both.

Zip Code Locator:

PenTeleData has developed a program ideally suited as a dealer locator. This utility takes a customer's starting zip code and a search radius number in miles, then generates a listing of offices that are within that radius.

"If you need a web solution for your business, PenTeleData offers a complete range of premiere web services under one roof: web design, web development, programming services and web hosting."

Real Estate Property Listings:

Useful for real estate agencies that wish to have their listings on the web, PenTeleData can develop a password-protected administrative area in which realtors can add, delete and modify sensitive customer records. PenTeleData can also develop search capabilities into the project.

Media Formatting:

PenTeleData's website development group can convert VHS video cassettes into media files for use on the web. These files are changed into mpeg or avi format so visitors browsing your website can download them easily for their review.

Photo Scanning:

PenTeleData can take traditional glossy photographs and convert them into digital images for display upon a website.

Job Postings:

PenTeleData can create a database for a company listing their current job openings with detailed descriptions. PenTeleData can create an administrative area where the manager of the website can add, delete and modify job openings.

Website Development methods:

HTML coding, Server Side Programs using Perl, Java, C/C++, Php

Client Side Scripting: Java Script

PenTeleData's development team understands HTML and the importance between designing websites for different browsers – and different versions of different browsers. PenTeleData's development team always develops websites with easy navigation and our own "No Templates Here" style.

Web Page Examples:

Web Development Features:

- Image Creation and Editing.
- Scanning Photos.
- Media Creation (Real Media Files).
- Converting VHS Video to AVI, MPG.
