I.T. CORNER

Let Us Be YOUR Company's I.T. Team

The number one problem for most business networks is the threat of viruses and spyware. If your company stores customer data, financial records, credit card information, intellectual property or other sensitive content, a virus can cause serious liability concerns and considerable computer downtime. The best way to protect your business is to remove existing malware (there is a chance that your computers may already be infected) and protect against future problems.

PenTeleData I.T. Services can help. Our group of specially trained technicians will come to your location to clean and protect your computers. We can also help with software installation, computer repair, wireless networks and more. Now's the time to call us, because if you call before January 31, 2021 to schedule an appointment, your company will receive 10% off our regular hourly rate.
